

Protect your valuable prints before shipping!

Just in Case

When the deadline for the next International Print Competition comes around, you might be in need of a print case for shipping your prize-winning images. Here we present the top recommendations. Visit the Print Competition forums at www.OurPPA.com for more information on the competition and valuable advice from fellow professional photographers.

The TENBA PORT EXHIBIT 1620 and 2024

series cases protect your prints during shipping, and facilitates the safe handling of your prints when they arrive.

There's a clear window on the exterior for a shipping label and a special pocket inside to hold your return label.

The walls are built with the same TenbaSafe construction as the Air Cases, and the foam interior is cut to cradle your prints and eliminate pressure on the corners. Padded sheets are provided to separate and protect up to six prints. Users say they're the height of convenience. Available from Adorama (www.adorama.com) and B&H Photo (www.bhphotovideo.com). 16x20x4: $252.95; 20x24x4.5: $297.95. www.tenbagear.com

Hailed for excellent quality, TED SAYLOR CUSTOM CASES need no exterior straps. These cases are constructed of hardcore vinyl with protective aluminum on all corners, foam-padding lining the interior, finger holes to make print removal easier, a built-in carry handle and positive-twist, no-key locking. 16x20x4: $195; 20x24x4: $215; 24x30x4: $265; Album cases: $215. 352-568-8888.

The SCOTT TALLYN-DESIGNED PRINT COMPETITION CASE features sturdy construction and durability. Covered in 1,000-denier ballistic nylon, it has large dual zippers that can be locked and a plastic-protected window for a shipping label. The interior is lined with soft nylon padding to protect prints from scratches, and there are interior windows for a return shipping label and owner I.D. The reinforced frame prevents damaged corners. 16x20x4: $189.95; 20x24x4: $215.95.
